Reflection:

In a recent Wednesday audience reflection, spoke about the Sacrament of Marriage: "When a man and woman celebrate the Sacrament of Matrimony, God as it were 'is mirrored' in them; he impresses in them his own features and the indelible character of his love. ...Indeed, God is a communion too: the three Persons of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit live eternally in perfect unity." As a communion of persons, the family reflects the Persons of the Trinity (in a limited way). Although there is not gender in God, there is unity and difference. This unity and difference in God is imaged through the sexual difference of man and woman.

Through their bodies, a husband and wife are able to express marital love. This unique expression would not be possible apart from their existence as male and female. In the words of St. John Paul II, "The body, and it alone, is capable of making visible what is invisible: the spiritual and the divine." In this way, the body is sacramental because a sacrament is a visible sign of an invisible reality.
